

Homer Church, Ohio.

Our communion is among things of the past. Brother Wm. Kiefer and wife, D. Good and wife from Fair Haven, were the only persons from that church. We had a good time trying to observe the Lord's ordinances commanded in the 13th chapter of John, etc., etc. The attendance of our brethren and especially the sisters was good. I do not know the number of communicants, but the sisters' tables were full. Quite a number of would-be spectators could not find room in our church house and several made more noise than was needed for the occasion.

Roann, Ind.

The Twelve Mile congregation held their semi-annual communion on Monday evening, Oct. 18, 1897. The attendance was good, the service impressive and spiritual. We begun our pastoral work here the first inst. The future is hopeful and prospects for good results are apparent. Both the K. C. and S. S. are flourishing.

Pray for us. The Lord willing, we shall go Nov. 6th to assist in a revival at Dunlap, Elkhart Co.

Had a good meeting. There were eleven members who engaged in these services, and 200 visitors present.

The Milford, Ind., congregation will hold their communion service on Thursday evening, Nov. 4. Let all who can, come and worship with us.

G. W. RENCH.

Our communion was the quietest, and seemingly the most enjoyed by all, of any we have had since I came here. One more baptized at this place on Sat. 2nd, which makes four out of a family of seven. I feel quite sure of two more in this family ere long. May the Lord continue to bless his cause. I have found that services prior to a communion are not in vain. Our services on Friday evening, not many being there, we had a good lively prayer meeting, and when we arose to sing the closing hymn, the one referred to came out, and no invitation given either.

Respectfully,

S. B. GRISSE.

GARDNER.—Joseph Gardner was born in Rottenburg, Germany, February 28, 1810, came to Buffalo, New York, in 1832 where he lived three years. In 1835 he came to Goshen, Ind., where he lived the remainder of his days. He died Oct. 14, 1897, aged 87 years, 8 months and 14 days. Funeral in Pleasant View Brethren church.

A. R. BEMENDERFER.

A. R. BEMENDERFER.

TOMPSON.—Cora Tompson was born Oct. 7, 1883, died Aug. 30, 1897. This young sister was the daughter of Brother and Sister Tompson. During a series of meetings held by brother J. R. Keller, she came forward, but was not baptized.

During her sickness she sent for us and asked if we thought her too sick to be baptized, to be anointed according to James 5:14. The request was granted her, after which it pleased God to let her remain for several days. Although she suffered continually she bore it patiently. When death drew nigh she called her mother to her bedside and expressed herself willing to leave earth that she might go to Him in whose presence death has no power, telling her she wished to meet them all in heaven. Thus it pleased God to call one more to him where all of God's children by and by shall meet again no more to say farewell.

RESOLUTIONS.

We, your committee on resolutions, beg leave to report as follows:

With grateful hearts to our Heavenly Father for the blessings received in the conference and for the good fellowship with our brethren and sisters of Chicago Mission, be it therefore

Resolved, That we, the members constituting this District Conference, universally endorse the work of Brother McFaden and Sister Gibbons and their co-laborers in the Chicago Mission and that we firmly pledge them our support financially and morally, and that we commend them to the brotherhood for the zeal, integrity and self-sacrifice in their work in the mission, and that we deplore the spirit of opposition manifest by certain individuals, some of whom while claiming to be members of the church, and insinuate themselves into the enterprise, and by their disobedience and disloyalty have wrought mischief, and that we condemn said spirit of disobedience as not of God and that we recommend that the members in the church of Chicago give to their pastors, Brother McFaden and Sister Gibbons, their loyal support and obedience, which things we believe they do; and further be it

Resolved, That we encourage the great temperance movement of the W. C. T. U. and all other reform movements, looking to the betterment of humanity, and that we encourage the educational work of the church; and further

Resolved, That we heartily endorse the work of the King's Children Society and also the S. S. C. E.; and be it further

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt thanks to our brethren and sisters for their kindness and hospitality towards us while we were at the conference and for the royal manner in which we have been entertained and our physical and spiritual wants have been supplied.
